The following technologies were selected to participate in AscendRural's Senior Care Focused Accelerator Program:

care.coach combines compassionate human support with a tablet-based conversational avatar to engage and support older adults across home and care settings. The solution offers daily check-ins, reminders, social interaction, and proactive alerts.
https://www.care.coach/

Total Life offers online mental health and wellness services designed specifically for older adults. Their virtual therapy platform connects seniors and caregivers with licensed, Medicare-accepting therapists to address anxiety, depression, life transitions, grief, and other concerns.
https://totallife.com/

Vivo is a live, small-group strength and functional fitness program built for adults 55 +. Using expert instructors and tailored workouts, Vivo helps participants build strength, improve mobility, and maintain balance through interactive virtual classes and personalized coaching.
https://teamvivo.com/

Plated Foodservice provides a modular, "kitchenless" ready-meal solution that simplifies foodservice operations. Their patent-pending heating and holding system delivers high-quality, chef-crafted meals that are heated and served with minimal staff effort, backed by digital tools for menu planning, inventory, compliance, and nutrition management, without needing a central kitchen.
https://platedfoodservice.com/

Medex Finance is a health-tech and fintech startup developing AI-powered automation for medical billing, coding, and revenue cycle processes. Their tools aim to eliminate administrative backlogs, streamline claims processing while accelerating reimbursements and improving financial performance.
https://medexfinance.com/

Pontosense uses privacy-first sensors and AI to detect movement, activity patterns, and risk signals in the home without cameras or wearables. Their invisible monitoring system helps families and care teams identify changes in daily behavior and respond quickly to potential issues.
https://www.pontosense.com/

Zemplee builds AI-enhanced remote monitoring solutions that track vital signs in real time and alert care teams about important changes. Their remote health system enables proactive intervention and continuous health oversight for seniors outside of traditional care settings.
https://zemplee.com/

Xandar Kardian applies ultra-wideband (UWB) radar technology to monitor health metrics —including vital signs and presence and motion — without wearables. Their contact-free systems support continuous vital sign monitoring for long-term care, home health, and built environments.
https://xkcorp.com/

CarePredict offers an AI-driven senior care platform that uses wearable and ambient sensors to learn daily patterns, detect subtle behavior changes, and deliver predictive health insights. Their system helps senior living providers and caregivers enable earlier intervention through real-time alerts and actionable operational data.
https://www.carepredict.com/

For questions about pilot opportunities, please reach out to eryn.johnston@sourcewell-mn.gov